Welcome to Week 7 Term 4

Hub Learning News

The weather is getting warmer and the year is coming to an end.

Kiwi Connection has been integrating literacy and maths into our learning. This week in the Hub, the students have been creating pizza recipes and making pizza. Ciao Bella!

We are participating in learning opportunities outside the classroom during the next couple of weeks. This Friday we are visiting the Maritime Museum to compliment our Sustainability inquiry. We are looking forward to this experience and thank all the parents who are joining us.

The following week, the Hub and MiM will be heading to the Mount Albert Wave Pools. This trip is happening on Monday December 3rd and we are still looking for helpers. Please contact The Hub teachers if you are able to help support our tamariki.

We have been celebrating French Week this week. This Thursday afternoon, there will be French activities on the bottom court led by students from L'Archipel.

Our students in the Hub have been working on Continuing our "sustainability" and plastic pollution inquiry unit, the students have been making plant pots made out of plastic bottles. They have been very creative and have successfully paper mache'd and painted beautiful pots to bring home with seeds to grow vegetables.

Here are some snapshots of our learning.

Village Learning Updates

Dans le Village

Bonjour tout le monde! It is French Language Week at RRS and each day we have been learning a few interesting things about the language and what it means to be French. We are even practising a French Christmas carol. Tres bien!

A few reminders about the rest of the term:

The Library is closed (until next year!) for stock taking so please make sure you check around home for all those stray library books. Jo will really appreciate it.

Also please return any readers or other school books so we can get them shelved before the end of the year.

We are taking most of the artwork off the walls so check school bags in case any masterpieces get ruined over the holidays.

There are several unclaimed lunch boxes piling up. Please come and have a look if you are missing any.

Next Week on Friday we are so looking forward to welcoming and meeting our new Principal. We have been practising many waiata in preparation for this occasion as well as for the many farewells on the last day of term.

And, just in case some of you thought you could rest now, we are planning an outing for next week! So for now, grab that sunblock, hold onto your hats, and we will get back to you as soon as the paperwork is done.
